¹The S&P 500® Index is an unmanaged, market capitalization weighted index which measures the performance of the large cap segment of the U.S. equities market, covering approximately 75% of the U.S. equities market. The Index includes 500 leading companies in leading industries of the U.S. economy. Index returns do not include any trading costs, management fees or other expenses.

²The Composite was created in March 2002.

³Not annualized.

⁴Composite dispersion is measured using an equal-weighted standard deviation of gross returns of those portfolios that are included in the composite for the full year/period. Prior to 2020, composite dispersion was measured using an asset-weighted standard deviation.

⁵The S&P 500® Equal Weight Index (EWI) is the equal-weight version of the widely-used S&P 500®. The index includes the same constituents as the capitalization weighted S&P 500®, but each company in the S&P 500® EWI is allocated a fixed weight - or 0.2% of the index total at each quarterly rebalance. Index returns do not include any trading costs, management fees or other expenses.
